Letter from Fr. Paul Mason Episcopal Vicar for Kent.

A letter from Father Paul Mason will be read at all Masses this weekend. Copies are available as you leave the church.

The last week of the Church's Year (B) calls us to ponder on the 'last things': how we view the end of the world, not as trivialised by satirists, or in the fears of those who experience natural phenomena. Rather, it challenges us to a perspective on life where the past and the future enlighten the present and how we live today, in relation to God and one another. We shall then celebrate the Feast of the Lord of Heaven and Earth, followed by the Year of Luke (C) Most of the Liturgical Year follows the Gospel of Luke which should be helpful in our personal reading as well as preparing for the Sunday Mass.

Farewell for now.

Unfortunately, my cancer has returned, and I shall be on a different medication and more visits to Kent and Canterbury Hospital. So, from today, the Archbishop says I should look after myself, and I leave St. Paul's, and may be assist sometime in the future, as my health may permit. Please continue to keep me in your prayers.
